Jail and bail set

The American Cancer Society's Quad City Unit is holding its annual Jail and Bail on Friday, Aug. 7. Volunteer police officers will good-naturedly arrest one's boss, spouse or friend and take him or her to a Crossroads Plaza "jail," where "prisoners" will earn their bail money by making pledge telephone calls.

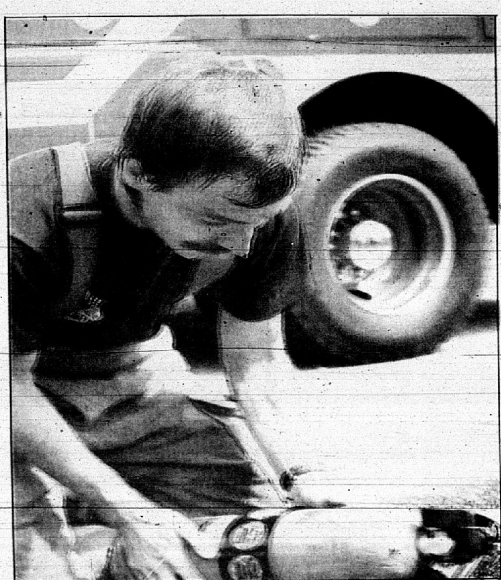

"It's a gag that's all in good fun, and all for the benefit of the American Cancer Society," a spokesman said. For more information, persons may call Faye of the ACS at 788-1065.

Board will meet

The Granite City-Park Board will meet at 7 p.m. today (Wednesday), July 29, at its office in Wilson Park, 2900 Benton St. A board meeting also is set for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 5.

Two men sought

Investigators are seeking two men seen parked outside the Godfrey area home of murder victim JoAnn Oakes. Dietzel, 32, a former Granite City resident. The men, who were in a maroon or red 1970s Ford, are sought for questioning. See Page 3A.

Overheated Firefighters battle weather and fires

Take an average summer day in the Metro East area. Put on an arctic winter coat. Pull on a pair of insulated bib overalls over a couple of pairs of long johns. Slip on a pair of thermal socks and knee-high black rubber boots. Don an insulated hood and then put your hands into a pair of elbow-high oven mitts. Sweating yet? There's more. Strap on a 40-pound backpack. Clasp on a metal helmet. Say goodbye to the climate-controlled comfort of home and go sit on a bed of hot charcoal briquettes.

Welcome to the wilting world of summer firefighting.

"Firefighting in the summer can be worse than the winter," said Long Lake (See HEAT, Page 8A)

Vasil Gravelle, post commander of AMVETS Post 204 in Madison, has been elected commander of the AMVETS 5th Division.

The election was held June 7 when the 5th Division held its meeting at Post 204. Gravelle was installed in his office by past AMVETS National Commander Jim King of Mount Vernon on June 28 at the AMVETS state convention in Peoria.

The next 5th Division meeting will be hosted by Mount Vernon Post 4 on Aug. 16. The 5th Division consists of all 12 AMVETS posts in Southern Illinois.

Leaf bin is closed after complaints

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

The Granite City yard waste drop-off program has caused health problems for a number of children, according to a day care manager.

Children attending Holy Family Learning Center, 1910 St. Clair Ave., have complained of headaches, burning and itchy eyes, scratchy throats and reduced appetites since a leaf and grass drop-off point was established on St. Clair Avenue about 150 feet from the school's playground, according to Cynthia Yobby, managing director.

In apparent response to the complaints, the street department emptied the St. Clair Avenue bin Monday and closed the facility permanently.

A street department worker said a new location would be established on Victory Drive, near the Nameoki drainage ditch, sometime this week.

Yobby said children have also had to obtain allergy medicine for relief. Two asthmatic children have had to "go on breathing machines" and others use inhalers as a result of fugitive dust particles created by the bin.

Who has the tape? Granite City police sergeant John Apperson's hearing before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners convened Monday night, nearly three years after Apperson requested it, but will not reach a conclusion for at least another four weeks.

On Sept. 15, 1989, Apperson requested a hearing before the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners to protest a written reprimand issued by Police Chief Don Knight on Sept. 13, 1989, relating to Apperson's alleged "fixing" of a traffic ticket March 31, 1989.

Following an hour-long open session Monday night, and another hour and 15 minutes of testimony in closed session — including testimony by Knight — the hearing was continued until Aug. 24.

The hearing was continued to allow Apperson's attorney, Melroy Hutnick of Belleville, and Knight's attorney, Brian Konzen, time to review materials they asked for the discovery process, but had not yet been provided.

Apperson

A key piece of evidence, according to a source close to the matter, is a tape recorded interview of Apperson by Knight regarding the alleged incident of "ticket fixing."

Hutnick asked for the tape itself in discovery, but was provided instead with a transcript of the conversation. He said there is no verification provided ensuring the transcript is accurate.

While Knight did not say the tape no longer exists, he told the commissioners the tape has been lost.

"It's the most important part of Knight's case," the source said. "I can't believe he lost it."

Hutnick asked for a continuance based on the missing evidence, and an order directing the chief to provide the tape.

The motion for continuance was subsequently denied.

"The public was then barred from the Man, 59, dies in house fire

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

A 59-year-old Granite City man died early Tuesday when his home burned and others in the building could not rescue him.

Keith M. Harris was pronounced dead, apparently from smoke inhalation, in his home in the 2400 block of E. 24th Street at about 3:36 a.m. Tuesday, Madison County Coroner Dallas Burke said. An autopsy is pending to determine if there were any other factors contributing to the death, Burke said.

Harris had been sleeping in a room on the second floor of the two-story frame home when a fire originated in a first-floor living room. Others in the home said they could not rescue him.

Harris' daughter, Donna Hogue, her husband, Brian Hogue, and four children escaped from the fire unharmed.

An electrical overload is being blamed for the blaze, Capt. James Lengyel of the Granite City Police Department said. He said a number of electrical extension cords were being used in the home.

A fire report listed the source of the fire as an electrical outlet in a first-floor living room.

Brian Hogue, 34, told police and firefighters that he awakened in the basement, where he and Donna Hogue sleep, at about 2:45 a.m. He said he heard the children, who had been sleeping in the first-floor living room, screaming. He went upstairs and found the front room in flames.

He managed to get Donna Hogue and the four children out of the building through a back door. He then tried to re-enter the building to rescue Harris, but smoke and flames prevented him from doing so, he said.

Two pumper trucks, an ambulance and a total of 16 firefighters responded to the scene. The building was engulfed in flames upon firefighters' arrival, according to fire reports.

Firefighters were on the scene until 7:45 a.m. Damage to the building was estimated at $35,000.

Party leaders differ on enthusiasm

Madison County party chairmen have different opinions on voter registration and the upcoming presidential election.

"I think there is a lot of apathy out there. I haven't seen any heightened interest," Ed Ragsdale, chief of the Madison County Republican Central Committee, said quite the opposite about the public's response.

"I think there is a lot of apathy out there. I haven't seen any heightened interest."

Both chairmen say their ticket is the strongest.

"I've never felt better in my life than I do about the upcoming election," Bellcoff said. "I feel the Democratic ticket, with (Bill) Clinton and (Al) Gore, is the best thing that has happened to our party in years. We couldn't ask for any better representation."

"This is a very important election and it is important that people consider someone with a proven record like (President George) Bush. They need to remember how he handled the Persian Gulf War and how he kept taxes low," Ragsdale said.

"The Democratic ticket is enticing many voters by offering them a change, but Ragsdale disagrees the problem is with the president.

"If people want a change, they need to get rid of Congress. It has been heavily Democratic for the past 38 years," Ragsdale said.

"I hope people will look at the issues and not just believe promises, because anyone can make promises before the election and then not keep them," Ragsdale said.

Olympic Triplecast needs A-to-Z guide

By now, many people, perhaps even the dozen or so who bought the "Triplecast," are totally confused by the 1992 Olympic Games. So many sports, so many announcers, so many commercials. What to watch, what to skip?

Relax. We are here to help with our simple A-to-Z Guide to the Olympics. We recommend you clip it and tape it to the TV set, right next to the $125 bill for the Triplecast.

A is for Archery. Skip. Men and women in white suits shooting bows and arrows. Excitement level — zero. Paint your living room, watch it dry. You get the idea.

B is for Basketball. Watch. Charles Barkley is the only hope for excitement from the men's basketball competition. How about that Angola game, huh? See if Charles spits on any fans or punches anybody out.

C is for Costas. Have to watch. Even before the Olympics it seemed like Bob Costas was on TV every time I turned it on. Got the job as Olympic host because he's bright, witty, well-informed and unlikely to call winning gymnast a "pixie." Sensitive to pixies.

D is for Diving. Watch for reverse double axels from the tuck-toe position. Oh, that's figure skating. Never mind. Problem with diving — you can never tell what the guy did wrong. Should have cannonball competition and measure biggest splash.

E is for Equestrian. Horses are stars here. Skip. Excitement comes from seeing whether our rich snobs can stay on their horses better than other countries' rich snobs.

F is for Fencing. Skip. Fencing is out of this one when they ruled they couldn't fight to the death. Like car racing without crashes.

G is for Gymnastics. Watch. What if they took your little girl, shipped her off to Houston when she was 12 years old and made her work for a loutish ex-Bulgarian who pushed her off high places for six hours a day? Weird thing is, they seem to like it.

H is for Handball. Skip. This is not cool handball like in Forest Park, where old guys with beer guts regularly was lean young macho dudes. No, this is Team Handball, which is like what would happen if the Major Indoor Soccer League changed the rules of basketball.

I is for Individual Pursuit. Skip. This is a bicycling event where guys whose hearts beat about once a week chase each other around a track for 2 1/2 miles on bicycles that cost more than Toyotas. Paint your living room again.

J is for Judo. Skip. Eye-gah.

K is for Karate. Oops, not an Olympic sport. Yet.

L is for Lithuania. So how come in sports in which former Soviet-bloc nations are good at, like Lithuanian basketball, they play under their own flag but then combine as a "united team" in other events? Never mind. Charles Barkley will take care of them.

M is for Modern Pentathlon. Skip. Shooting, running, swimming, fencing, stuff that military officers used to have to know. Now if Norman Schwartzkopf was entered, it'd be a different story.

O is for Olympic Officials. If shirt-stuffing were a sport they'd win the gold.

P is for Pairs Without Cox. Watch this rowing event to see if they tell you what Cox did to get thrown off the team.

Q is for Queen Isabella. A Spanish monarch whose name will be mentioned a lot and the only word I could come up for for Q.

R is for Rowing. So what do you think Cox did?

S is for Synchronized Swimming. Watch. Choreographed swimming with sequins, costumes and fake smiles. It's the sign of the governor's race.

T is for Table Tennis. Skip. Be honest. How many of you really consider pingpong an Olympic sport?

U is for Uneven Bars. Watch. A gymnastics event. Also a night on the town in the Media Village.

V is for Volleyball. Watch. Hunks with no shirts, babes in bikinis, lots of beer. Oh, wait. That's beach volleyball. Never mind.

W is for Wrestling. Watch. Now that pro basketball players can play in the Olympics, can Hulk Hogan be behind?

X is for X. Skip.

Y is for Yachting. See E is for Equestrian, only without horses.

Z is for ZZZZZ. You Triplecast subscribers, did you get your $125 worth?

Gun, fireworks charges

James W. Lance, 27, of Lenzburg, Ill., and Edward L. Lance, 21, and Jeffrey S. Lance, 25, both of the 2200 block of Washington Avenue in Granite City, were arrested at 3:49 a.m. July 24 following an alleged shooting incident in the 2200 block of Washington.

James Lance was charged with having false information on a firearm owner identification card.

Edward Lance was charged with unlawful use of a weapon.

Jeffrey Lance was charged with discharging fireworks.

Officers dispatched to the Washington Avenue address in reference to a weapon being fired in the street found James and Edward Lance in a kitchen near a toy box, putting a gun in with toys, according to a police report.

An officer seized a .38-caliber Smith & Wesson revolver with five live rounds, a spent .38-caliber cartridge and fireworks, according to the report.

All three men claimed false shooting fireworks, the report states, but a witness told police he saw a man in a uniform remove a gun from a silver Chevrolet Camaro and hand it to a man in a light blue T-shirt.

The witness said the man in the blue shirt pointed the gun toward 2200 Street and fired it.

James Lance was wearing an Emergency Medical Technician shirt and Ed Lance a light blue T-shirt.

James Lance produced a FBIID card that had his picture but his wife's name on it, the report alleges.

All three men were lodged pending bail.

Allegedly hits mother

Shannon T. Higgs, 25, of the 2200 block of Washington Avenue was arrested at 3:40 a.m. July 24 and charged with domestic battery.

Officers met the alleged victim, Dorothy A. Bates, 53, at Jack-in-the-Box, 2163 Madison Ave. Bates told police that Higgs, her son, hit her on the left side of her head with his fist.

Higgs was arrested a half hour later while walking on 22nd Street near Iowa Street.

DUI, 3 other charges

Brian A. Jolly, 36, of the 2300 block of East 27th Street, was arrested at 1:50 a.m. July 24 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer reported observing a pickup truck northbound on Madison Avenue at high speed. The officer clocked the vehicle at 60 miles per hour.

When the officer activated his patrol car's emergency lights, the truck accelerated, began swerving from lane to lane, and stopped abruptly at 27th and Iowa streets, according to the report.

Jolly was charged with speeding, improper lane usage, driving with a suspended license and DUI.

Two receive probation

Two Granite City brothers have received probation after pleading guilty to charges of aggravated criminal sexual abuse involving underage girls.

Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner sentenced Joseph F. Kodelya, 30, and Frank L. Kodelya Jr., 29, both of the 1900 block of State Street, to one year of probation each. The men had been charged with one count of sexual abuse each June 1.

The charges stemmed from sexual activity with two 15-year-old girls from May 8-16.

The girls, who were originally believed to have been kidnapped, were found in the men's apartment after a week-long disappearance.

Local officials like cable TV bill

By Angie Cairns
Staff writer

A cable TV bill that passed the U.S. House of Representatives Thursday night is being welcomed by several local officials who say subscribers will benefit.

The bill, passed by a vote of 340 to 73, would require the Federal Communications Commission to regulate basic cable TV rates in areas where there is no competition, Rep. Dick Durbin, D-Springfield, said. The bill is called the Cable Television Consumer Protection and Competition Act. A similar bill was passed by the U.S. Senate in January. A conference committee from the House and Senate will now meet to work out any differences between the two plans.

Most local officials contacted were happy with the House action. The Madison County Council of Mayors has been working on a cable franchise that would be shared by local municipalities to help control cable rates.

Although Edwardsville Mayor Dennis DeJoye, chairman of the group, is hopeful that the new bill will accomplish the same goal, he's taking a wait-and-see approach.

"I'm kind of guarded," he said. "I'm just not convinced that an action taken in Washington is going to have that much effect."

Jim Bogart of Centcom, said "We're disappointed that Congress feels the need to regulate any business. There are a lot of items (in the bill) that are going to cost an awful lot of money, and someone is going to have to pay those costs."

Centcom Cable Television provides service for portions of Madison and St. Clair counties. Effective Jan. 1, the company raised the rate for its basic package by $1.95, from $22.40 a month in Collinsville, Troy, Maryville, Caseyville, Granite City and Edwardsville. The January hike was the fourth time the company had raised the cost of its basic package since January 1989. Both Durbin and Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleville, voted in favor of the House bill. "This legislation gives the average television viewer with cable a break from rates that have skyrocketed in recent years," Costello said in a press release.

The bill would also authorize the FCC to take action against cable companies that charge unreasonable or abusive rates. Under what would be new FCC regulations, city and county governments would be extended the authority to oversee basic service charges offered by cable companies.

Police seek identity of 2 seen near home of slain woman

Investigators are seeking the identity of two men who were seen in a car parked outside the home of a Foster Township woman later found beaten to death.

The victim was JoAnn Dietzel, formerly of Granite City.

"We don't know what, if any, involvement these two men have, but we are very interested in questioning them. We know two men were there because several witnesses saw them and the car."

The car, identified as maroon or red, early- to mid-1970s model Ford LTD or Thunderbird, was parked in Dietzel's driveway about 10 o'clock the night before the morning she was found dead. Hertz said the car's roof may have been partially covered with white vinyl.

"We have spoken to several people but not with anyone who drives that type of car," he said. "We know there were two Caucasian males in the car."

Hertz said detectives are also attempting to track down a man believed to have been with Dietzel the night before the murder.

Several people have called in names of a man who fits a composite released by the sheriff's department, although no arrests have been made.

Hertz said none of the men is being treated as a suspect. "We are just interested in speaking with them," he said.

Dietzel, 32, was last reported seen at about 11:30 that night, at Dietzel was found in her home about 10:45 a.m. Her estranged husband, Terry Dietzel, has been questioned and provided an alibi which is still being checked.

Tuition increases may be good news for community colleges

(This article was written by Doug Pokorski for Campus News Service.)

SPRINGFIELD Tuition will go up by at least 10 percent and in some cases nearly 25 percent for the state's public universities.

The tuition increases are bad news for students — but they may be good news for community colleges in the state. Community college officials feel the increases may mean that more students will stay close to home next year.

Higher education officials said the increases will help offset budget cuts imposed by Gov. Jim Edgar last year and anticipated tight budgets this year.

Even with these tuition increases, we will need to make further budget reductions," said University of Illinois President Stanley Ikenberry. "Our state tax support fell by $25 million this year."

The U of I board of trustees voted May 14 to increase tuition there by 10 percent to $1,144 per semester, with engineering students getting an additional boost in cost of roughly 10 percent.

Annual tuition for U of I Chicago campus freshmen and sophomores who are Illinois residents will increase from $2,032 this year to $2,262 in the fall. Resident juniors and seniors will pay $2,320, up from $2,290.

The state Board of Regents, which governs Sangamon State, Northern and Illinois State universities, on May 21 unanimously approved a tuition increase of nearly 25 percent for some students.

Under the proposal, the basic undergraduate charge per credit hour at the three universities would rise 10 percent, from $73 to $82.50 at ISU and SIU, and from $68.50 to $75.35 at SSU. In addition, the current 12-credit "cap" on tuition would be lifted to 16 credits.

Under the current system, students pay for a maximum of 12 credits but may take more at no additional charge. Students typically take 15 to 16 credits per semester to complete a four-year degree program in four years or to complete SIU's two-year program in two years.

Resident freshman and sophomores at the Champaign campus will see tuition increase from $2,236 to $2,496, and juniors and seniors will pay $2,746, compared to $2,496 this year.

Tuition for students taking a full course load at the Carbondale campus of Southern Illinois University will increase by a whopping 37 percent next fall.

The SIU board adopted a plan to raise tuition about 10 percent for students taking 12 credit hours per year.

However, students wishing to complete an undergraduate program in four years need 16 credit hours per year. The proposal approved May 14 would charge students $75 per credit hour for every credit over 12 hours.

That means a student who plans to graduate in four years will pay $2,250 per year, compared to $1,638 this year.

The Board of Governors oversees the operation of five universities — Chicago State, Governors State, Northwestern Illinois, Western Illinois and Eastern Illinois.

Governors spokeswoman Michelle Brazzell acknowledged that the increases will mean some students will not be able to attend the state's public universities.

However, she said, overall enrollment is expected to remain stable.

"There will be students who will never apply, students who will look at us and never come back," Brazzell said.

"But there will be others who will take their places. When the economy is bad, more people go to college."

Child safety seats recalled

The Illinois Department of Transportation has been informed by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration of the recall of a child safety seat.

The owners of Guardian child safety seats manufactured by Takata-Gerica (Gerry) between Jan. 31 and May 3, 1990, are urged to contact the company for a free repair kit.

The seats fail to meet a federal safety standard that requires a force of at least 9 pounds to depress a push-button that releases the buckle on the seat's belt assembly.

This provision is intended to deter children from releasing the buckle.

Parents are urged to continue using these Guardian safety seats while waiting for the replacement kit. Properly restrained children are much less likely to suffer crash injuries.

Owners should contact Gerry at 1-800-845-9813. In addition, consumers with questions regarding this, or any other safety-recall matter, can call NHTSA's toll-free Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

Arts series receives Arts Midwest grants

The Arts and Issues series at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville has been awarded grants totaling $3,834 from Arts Midwest to support the 1992-93 series program.

Arts and Issues was selected through a competitive review process on the basis of its commitment to providing quality programming to Southwestern Illinois audiences.

The purpose of Arts and Issues is to augment the academic programs at SIUE, and to enrich the cultural and intellectual life of the university community.

Students, faculty, staff and area residents are invited to attend evenings of entertainment and lectures about current issues. Established in 1985, the series has attracted more than 19,000 people and 204 speakers and artists.

Arts Midwest is a multi-state, public-private partnership supporting the arts and culture of the Midwest. Its mission is to advance the cultural development and promotion of the Midwest and the exchange of cultural resources regionally, nationally and internationally.

The organization supports artists and arts organizations throughout Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, and Wisconsin.

The first Arts and Issues program, Stand Rock Indian Ceremonial, scheduled to appear at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 14, received $2,097 from Arts Midwest, while a production of Inspecting Carol to be performed by the Seattle Repertory Theater on campus Monday, May 3, received $1,737.

Arts and Issues season tickets are now on sale; individual tickets for each event will go on sale Sept. 1.

meeting by a 2-1 vote. Commissioners Edward "Dewey" Melton and Leland Ambuehl voted to close the meeting, against protests by both Hutnick and the media. The commissioners said they anticipated "delicate and sensitive" matters to be discussed.

Commissioner Roger Miller voted to keep the session "open."

"There is nothing from which Sgt. Apperson seeks protection," Hutnick said.

Board attorney David Antognoli said the board "desires to prevent the dissemination of libel to the public at large."

Hutnick then began presenting his case.

Apperson's initial request for a hearing in 1989 was denied by the board, but a circuit judge ruled in October of 1990 that Apperson was entitled to a hearing under the Granite City police departmental policy.

The Board of Fire and Police Commissioners scheduled a hearing for Apperson Dec. 10, 1990, more than a year after he requested it.

But Hutnick then sought and received an injunction preventing the Dec. 10 hearing.

The complaint seeking injunction alleged that, because Commissioner Linda Irwin could be called upon to testify, she should be disqualified from presiding over the case. It also alleged that Irwin and Melton were biased in favor of Knight, and could not be fair and impartial in their judgment.

Irwin resigned her position on the board last year. She has since been replaced by Miller.

In a separate but related lawsuit filed against the city, Apperson alleges that "in fact the allegation of ticket fixing" was untrue and merely used to cover up conduct on the part of others by the Chief of Police.

In the suit, Apperson said that Knight personally told him the alleged "ticket fixing" was not the true reason for the reprimand, but that Knight issued it because Knight believed Apperson was responsible for a poison pen letter sent to the wife of then-Lt. Dave Reubhausen, regarding Dave Reubhausen and then-commissioner Irwin.

Apperson denied sending the letter.

Hutnick opened the proceedings Monday with a motion to disqualify Konzen from the hearing based on the fact that Konzen is an associate with the same firm—Lueders, Robertson and Konzen—as Ed Fitzhenry, the assistant city attorney who represented the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners in their 1990 attempt to deny the hearing.

Hutnick said it appears the board "acquired a special relationship," acquired special insights and more than likely acquired special knowledge that would not otherwise have been acquired, but through a lawyer-client relationship" through their representation in a related matter by an attorney with the same firm.

"This case is being presented to you by the same lawyer who represented you in your attempt to deny this hearing," Hutnick argued to the board.

"It smacks of a civil conspiracy,"

Konzen said he has no conflict of interest in the matter, and pointed out that the board is currently represented by Antognoli. Melton said that, while attorneys from the firm of Lueders, Robertson and Konzen do represent the board in procedural matters, he had no personal contact with Fitzhenry on the matter. Ambuehl also denied having been consulted regarding the action.

According to the city police Policy Manual, a written reprimand remains in an officer's file for one year. If no other violations occur in that period, the card is removed from the officer's file. If, however, a subsequent reprimand is issued, the initial reprimand becomes a permanent part of the officer's record.

Asked if Apperson's reprimand remains on file, Knight said he had no comment.

St. Clair County coroner faces trial for misconduct

By Bonita Tillman
Staff writer

A trial date of Aug. 4 has been set for St. Clair County Coroner Rick Stone, who is facing four felony charges of official misconduct after being indicted by a St. Clair County grand jury.

Circuit Judge David W. Watt Jr. of Jackson County was named to hear the case, which alleges that Stone went beyond his duties as coroner in naming four deputy coroners.

St. Clair County Circuit Judge Jerome Lopnot said Watt will hear all preliminary issues related to Stone's case at 2 p.m. Aug. 4, and the trial is set to start the following day.

Defense attorney Stephen Rice has indicated Stone will waive a jury, allowing Watt to hear and decide on the case himself, Lopnot said.

If convicted of any one of the felonies, Stone will have to give up his seat as coroner.

According to the Illinois State Board of Elections, a county candidate can withdraw from an election up to 15 days before the election. However, no replacement could be named to fill the slot at that time.

If the ballot is certified and the candidate withdraws more than 15 days before the election, the slot must be filled within eight days of the withdrawal.

If the ballot has not been certified, the slot can be filled up through the certification date, or Sept. 2.

Stone of Belleville admitted backdating a court order in 1988 to show that the chief judge had issued the order in 1986. However, the July 17 indictment did not specifically mention the backdating issue.

The allegations against Stone, who has been coroner since 1984, were first raised by Robert Roudnik, who challenged Stone in the April primary election.

Student loan rate at record low

College students who need loans for postsecondary education can benefit from a new lower interest rate.

The interest rate on federal PLUS loans, and Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS) will soon hit a record low, said Bob Clement, spokesman for the Illinois Student Assistance Commission (ISAC).

The U.S. Department of Education recently announced that the interest rate on variable rate PLUS and SLS loans is 7.51 percent, which is effective through June 30, 1993.

In accordance with federal law, interest rates on new 20-year existing variable rate PLUS and SLS loans are adjusted each June, up to a maximum allowable rate of 12 percent. The new rate of 7.51 percent is 1.88 percent lower than the prior year rate of 9.39 percent.

The PLUS loan program provides loans to qualified parents of dependent undergraduates and to qualified graduate students. Parents who wish to borrow under this program are not required to demonstrate financial need, but must check with the financial aid administrator at the student's school.

The SLS program provides loans to independent undergraduates and to qualified graduate students. Under certain circumstances, some dependent undergraduate students may also be eligible. Students who wish to borrow do not have to demonstrate financial need, but must complete a federally approved MDE form and/or obtain a Pell eligibility assessment to determine any grant eligibility.

Students and parents can learn more about PLUS and SLS loans and other financial assistance programs for postsecondary education by contacting ISAC, Client Support Services, 106 Wilmore Road, Deerfield, Ill. 60015; phone 708-948-8550; 312-793-3745; 217-782-2577.

These loans are made available through a cooperative effort of ISAC, private lending institutions, and the federal government. Private lenders make these loans, which are guaranteed by ISAC and insured by the federal government.

ISAC is a state agency that administers over 15 financial assistance programs for postsecondary students. Each year, over 250,000 students receive in excess of $500 million through ISAC-administered programs.

Japanese Festival set for Aug. 1, 2 at Botanical Garden

The Japanese culture, old and new, will come to life Aug. 1 and 2 for "A New Discovery: Japan," the Missouri Botanical Garden's 18th annual Japanese Festival.

The weekend event, part of the second annual Festival of Festivals, runs from 11 a.m. to midnight Saturday and 11 a.m. to 11:30 p.m. Sunday at the garden, 4344 Shaw Blvd. Admission is free with regular garden admission of $2 for adults, $1 for seniors age 65 and over, and free to garden members and children 12 and under. Admission is free on Saturday mornings until noon.

"This year's festival, I think, is going to be the best ever presented," said Deborah Graham, manager of public programs and public events for the garden. "We're really excited about it. I think it's going to be one of the more colorful festivals we've ever done."

The festival is sponsored by the garden, the St. Louis Japanese Chamber of Commerce, Japan America Society, Japanese American Citizens' League, Japanese Language School of St. Louis, Japan Society, Sawa Sister City Committee, and the Consul General of Japan—Kansas City.

New features this year include the Omikoshi Parade, a presentation of an authentic Japanese good luck shrine. Omikoshi-bearers delight audiences with their bouncing half-jog that propels the shrine slowly forward through the audience. The shrine is held on the shoulders of the Omikoshi-bearers, who let out ceremonial chants while the crowd claps to the rhythm. The festival will display five authentic Omikoshis.

Also new is the bon odori dance, a folk dance program presented under traditional lanterns to the sound of taiko drums. The performers wear yukata, or summer kimonos, and dance in a circle encouraging garden visitors to participate.

Visitors are encouraged to participate in the latest in Japanese pop culture, karaoke taiko. These computerized machines allow people to sing their favorite songs, providing both the musical accompaniment and a display of the lyrics to assist the amateur singer.

A live quiz show program, "Aha, Japan!" also will be presented. Participants can compete against others and demonstrate their knowledge and understanding of Japan.

For more information on the Japanese Festival, call the Festival of Festivals information hot line at 577-9400.

F.J. Parker

Francis J. "Salty" Parker, 80, of Houston, Texas, formerly of Granite City, died Monday, July 27, 1992, at a Houston hospital after a two-year illness.

Mr. Parker, a former Granite City High School athlete, was in professional baseball 58 years. He participated in baseball's major leagues for 16 years, including the San Francisco Giants, Houston Astros, California Angels, New York Mets and Cleveland Indians.

He was inducted into the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame in 1987 and the Texas Baseball Hall of Fame in 1991.

Survivors include three daughters, Jean Marie Latner, Nancy Carter and Frances Collins, all of Houston; two brothers, Charlie Parker of Granite City and Ken Parker of Joliet; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Thelma Parker, who died in 1961; his father, Jim Parker, who died in 1941; and his mother, Ella Parker, who died in 1971.

Visitation will be held Thursday at George Lewis Funeral Home on Bering Drive, Houston, where services will be conducted Friday morning.

Rev. Andrew Davis

The Rev. Andrew W. Davis, 82, of Madison died at 4:54 p.m. Monday, July 27, 1992, at Lutheran Medical Center, St. Louis. He had been ill for 10 days and a patient for eight days.

A member of the Metro East Area Assembly of God Ministries, he was the founder of the First Assembly of God Church in Edwardsville.

Survivors are a brother-in-law, Leo Pyles of Edwardsville, and two sisters-in-law, Blanche Davis and Jewel Kezie, both of Madison.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Marie (Pyles) Davis, his sister, Laura Peterson (four brothers, Nathaniel, Lawrence, Albert and Everett Davis, his father, Robert Davis, and his mother, Florence Dowdy Davis Bond).

Visitation was held from 5 to 8 p.m. Tuesday at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, Granite City, where services will be conducted at 10 a.m. today (Wednesday) with the Rev. Henry Crippen officiating. Burial will be at Sunset Hill Memorial Estates near Edwardsville.

Frida Clifton

Frida M. (Carroll) Clifton, 62, of Granite City, formerly of Madison, died at 1:35 p.m. Sunday, July 26, 1992, at St. Elizabeth's Medical Center, Granite City, where she had been a patient for two weeks. She had been ill for several years.

Mrs. Clifton was born Oct. 30, 1930, in Rockwood, Tenn., and had been at her present address for two months. She was a homemaker and of the Catholic faith.

Survivors include one son, Steven C. Clifton of Centralia; two daughters, Janet L. Clifton of Granite City and Dana C. Clifton; two sisters, Evelyn Poles and Betty Carroll, both of Rockwood, Tenn.; and two grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Roland Clifton, who died Aug. 21, 1981, and her parents, Albert and Jeanette Carroll. Arrangements are pending at Irwin Chapel, 3960 Maryville Road, Granite City, 931-6000.

William Andrews

William E. Andrews, 73, of Wood River, formerly of Granite City, died at 6:35 a.m. Sunday, July 26, 1992, at Anderson Hospital in Maryville.

Mr. Andrews was born Feb. 23, 1919, in Granite City and resided in Wood River for 22 years. A graphic artist for the Wood River Journal for 12 years, retiring in 1963, he was of the Protestant faith.

Survivors include his wife, Ollie Ruth (Davidson) Andrews, one daughter, Louise Gebken of Florissant, Mo.; one son, James Clyde Holt of Glen Carbon; two sisters, Hazel Lewis of Granite City and Jean Conrad of Orange City, Fla.; and three grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, John Denver Andrews and Neoma (Garner) Andrews. There was no visitation or funeral. As per his request, his remains were cremated.

Werner Chapel for Funerals, Pontoon Beach, handled arrangements.

Keith Harris

Keith M. Harris, 29, of Granite City, died early Tuesday morning, July 28, 1992, in a fire at his home.

Mr. Harris was born Aug. 31, 1962, in Litchfield and resided in Granite City for 20 years. He was a truck driver for Granite City Steel for 10 years before the fire.

A U.S. Army veteran, he was of the Protestant faith. Survivors include one son, David Keith Harris of the U.S. Marine Corps in San Diego; three daughters, Donna Hogue of Granite City and Diane Harris of Hannibal, Mo.; one brother, Robert Harris of Chicago; two sisters, Charlene Bierman of Litchfield and Betty Harris of Waterloo; and seven grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his wife, Chela Jane (Mayberry) Harris, whom he married June 16, 1974, in Granite City and who died in 1981. He was survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Harris.

Visitation will be from 5 to 8 p.m. today (Wednesday) at Labey Sedlack Funeral Home, 615 Madison Ave., Madison, where services will be conducted Thursday at 1 p.m. Burial will be at Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery, St. Louis County.

Funeral services were conducted Tuesday at the Church of the Ascension in Mount Olive with the Rev. Larry Anschutz officiating. Burial was at New Douglas Cemetery.

Lesicko Funeral Home in New Douglas handled arrangements. Memorials are suggested for the Grandchildren's Fund in care of Lesicko Funeral Home, P.O. Box 6, New Douglas, Ill. 62074.

KSHE planning

annual blood drive

With support from Missouri and Illinois residents, the American Red Cross and KSHE-FM 94.7 are hoping to once again set a national blood drive record on Aug. 7 and 8 during the ninth annual KSHE-FM 94.7 Rock and Roll Up Your Sleeve blood drive.

The drive will take place at four locations throughout the metropolitan area: Carpenters Hall on Hampton Avenue in St. Louis; St. Charles West High School in Belleville; College and Jefferson Community College in Hillsboro. The drive runs from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. both days at all locations.

KSHE-FM 94.7 and American Red Cross have set national records the last two years for a two-day blood drive. In 1990, the drive collected 4,716 units of blood; in 1991, 6,200 units were donated by 14,340 donors throughout the area.

"We want to make sure we hold on to our place as the nation's blood drive," says Dan Delosky, assistant director of marketing and promotion at KSHE-FM 94.7.

Granite City Steel Fire Closes

Danny Kreher. "Fighting a fire anytime is rough. But in the summer, with the heat and humidity, it's worse. In the winter, you need the coat and gear to keep you warm. In the summer, you just cook."

But such is the price firefighters in the Midwest pay this time of year.

With outside temperatures in the 90s and 100s, humidity to match, and the average house fire weighing in at around 1,000 degrees, firefighters battle raging flames, fumes and personal burnout this time of year.

Federal regulations require all firefighters entering a fire or the scene of a chemical spill to wear a protective coat, pants, gloves, boots and helmet, as well as an oxygen mask fueled by tanks carried on the back.

Granite City Fire Chief Jerry Wallace said the clothes alone weigh about 20 pounds. The oxygen tank adds another 20 to 25 pounds.

He said the equipment is like a double-edged sword. Firefighters need it to protect them from the fires, but it's hot, heavy and cumbersome.

"You get all bundled up to protect you from the ravages of a fire, but it keeps you from fluids at the same time," Wallace said. "Your butt is dragging and you get to the point where you can hardly hold your arms up."

There's only so much that can be done to keep the human body cool under such circumstances. The American Red Cross offers a portable cooling device, known as a Red Cross cooler, to area firefighters.

The Red Cross offers coolers to firefighters to sit in while they rest.

For smaller fires, department rescue trucks and ambulances can be left running at the scene with air-conditioners blasting.

There are also firefighting tricks such as partially opening certain water valves on pumper trucks to create makeshift showers.

And bystanders have also been known to help out.

The Granite City Fire Department responded to a fire on Lee Avenue on June 16, and was on the scene for more than four hours. A firefighter, one of the six who first responded to the scene, passed out from heat in about 15 minutes, and was hospitalized.

A nearby convenience store sent a cooler full of drinks for the firefighters, and the Granite City Steel department also assisted by refilling air tanks.

"People are really great in those situations," Wallace said. "The time exposed to the heat can be limited. But to do so requires calling out reinforcements from home or from other departments."

At the Lee Avenue fire, 12 men were called out to assist. Such manpower increases are mandatory this time of year, firefighters said.

"You've got to rotate new people in and out," Wallace said. "Ten or 15 minutes inside that fire gear can be too much."

Kreher, who assisted with the Lee Avenue fire, said the blaze was a "classic case where more manpower was needed" to rotate firefighters more often.

But all in all, to get deep inside a burning house, firefighters just have to take the heat.

Kreher pointed out that heat can be a year-round problem at the steel mill.

It's a totally different situation in the steel mill, where the heat and humidity, you have steel melting at 2,700 to 3,000 degrees, and it could be running all over the floor or ground," Kreher said. "We haven't really had any thing major this year. A knock on wood, but those steelworkers have to deal with the heat on a day-to-day basis," Kreher said.

Though summer heat makes fighting fires difficult, cold winter weather can be tough, too. When the temperature is below freezing, and the firefighters open up hoses to douse the fire, everything that gets wet freezes.

"You go from one extreme to another. When everything gets covered in ice it makes work difficult," Wallace said.

He recalls a fire at Irwin Chapel about six years ago when the wind-chill index was about 22 degrees below zero and there was no relief in the five hours it took to extinguish the blaze.

"It got to the point where we couldn't even bend our fingers," Wallace said. "Everything we had on was a solid sheet of ice."

Wallace has seen firefighters covered with ice from head to toe on more than one occasion. "Ice gets on your boots, your coat, your gloves and icicles are hanging off your helmet," Wallace said.

Equipment also will freeze in the cold weather. Wallace said a passerby once loaded frozen hoses into the back of his pickup truck because they were too stiff to roll up and load onto the pumper after a fire was extinguished.

"Once those lines are shut down, they can freeze almost immediately," he said.

Wallace said that, in the 23 years that he has been a firefighter, he has seen conditions that have taken out equipment, such as lighter air tanks and hoses.

He hopes the equipment will continue to improve and thus enhance the firefighters' ability to battle blazes.

Donald Stengel

Donald E. Stengel, 69, of Cahokia, formerly of Venice, died at 10:15 p.m. Monday, July 27, 1992, at the Lutheran Medical Center in St. Louis.

Mr. Stengel was born Sept. 7, 1922, in Venice. He retired in 1982 after 40 years with the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio Illinois Central Gulf Railroad.

He was a member of Holy Family Catholic Church in Cahokia and Transportation Communications International Union Local 622 and was a U.S. Army veteran.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Davis; Stengel of Cahokia; five daughters, Donna Eisenhour of Belleville, Pamela Schenberger and Barbara Reagan, both of Cahokia; Sharon Purland of Villa Grove, Ill.; and Melanie Hayes of Bruce Street of Chicago; two brothers, Erwin Stengel of Greenview, Ill., and Raymond Stengel of Granite City; three sisters, Irene Fischer of Wentworth, Mo.; Gertrude Gramon of Maryville and Nina Conklin of Howeholm, Calif.; and six grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Leo and Jessie (Batta) Stengel; two brothers, Richard Stengel and one sister, Idaia "Dolly" Shovlin; and one son, Philip John Stengel.

Arrangements are pending at Kasky's Colonial Mortuary, 1201 Camp Jackson Road, Cahokia, 437-4433.

smell" emitted from the drop-off bin and drifting into the center's play yard, the likelihood that mosquitoes—and insects—will be attracted to the area and the natural tendency of rats to be drawn to the damp, smelly environment created by the bins.

Another drop-off point, at Braden Avenue and Pontoon Road, was completely shut down by the city in June when Madison County health authorities received a complaint and issued the city an administrative warning that the bins were in violation of the Environmental Protection Agency requirements.

The city's department has subsequently been given the responsibility of emptying the bins.

Yobbs said she has called the Granite City Street Department to see what can be done about the situation. She said her calls were referred to Alderman Judy Whitaker, chairman of the City Council Sanitation Committee.

"Mrs. Whitaker sympathized and promised to look into the matter and see what could be done," Yobbs said.

"We appreciate her interest and effort, however, the only change we have seen is that, since the street department has taken over the bin removal process, the area has been cleaned up on a more regular basis. This has cut down on the problem, but it has not eradicated it."

Yobbs said she appreciates the importance of the program, but suggested the bin be moved to a less populated location.

Whitaker told the City Council on July 26 that the St. Clair Avenue bin would be moved to another location.

Briefly

Bethesda plans Bible School

Bethesda Baptist Church, 3035 Nameoki Drive, Granite City, will hold a Vacation Bible School August 3-7 for children four years old through the sixth grade.

Each session will begin at 6 p.m. and conclude at 8:30 p.m., according to Peggy Hass, VBS director. "There will be time each evening for crafts, Bible study and refreshments," she said. Pastor Luther Abbott encourages parents to bring their children. At 7 p.m. on August 9 the church will have the VBS Commencement Service.

Johnson Road Baptist program

"God's Champions — Equipped to follow Jesus" is the Vacation Bible School program at Johnson Road General Baptist Church, 2033 Johnson Road, Aug. 3 through Aug. 7 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. nightly.

God's Champions is a five-day experience featuring fun, crafts, music, refreshments and active Bible learning. By visiting different "sports camps" each day, children will meet fascinating champions from sports and Bible times, learning what it means to be one of God's champions. Kids will learn the values of telling the truth, making good choices, sharing their faith, trusting God and reading the Bible.

The program is open to kids 3 through 12 years of age. For more information call 376-3257.

Back-yard carnival set

Community Love will hold a back-yard carnival at 1671 3rd St. in Madison on July 31 and Aug. 1. The carnival will be held from 4 p.m. to 8:30 p.m.

Cold drinks, food, jewelry, games, prizes, acake walk, raffles and more will be available for a 25-cent admission fee.

Wheat program contains zero acreage cut

Farmers who participate in the 1993 wheat program will not be required to reduce their plantings to qualify for price support loans and deficiency payments, said Ray Gvillo, executive director of the Madison County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

The 1993 program contains a zero percent acreage reduction. "This means that there is no requirement to place eligible cropland into an acreage conservation reserve," Gvillo said.

He said this level was chosen from the statutory range of 0 to 15 percent to ensure sufficient wheat supplies for domestic and export needs.

Wheat program benefits include target price protection at $4 per bushel, the same as last year, and a national price support loan rate at $2.35 per bushel, 21 cents more than last year.

To be eligible for loans, purchases and payments on the 1993 wheat crop, producers must not plant in excess of their wheat acreage base plus plantings permitted on flex acres from other participating program crops," Gvillo said.

Advance payments may be requested and issued during program sign-up at the rate of 40 percent of the projected deficiency payment for the crop.

Juniors ousted in classic

By Brian Henry
Correspondent

For two and a half hours Saturday night at Varsity Field there were no such things as deadlines, unemployment or inflation.

The entire concept of a real world was put on the backburner by some of the most unreal baseball ever to be played around here. The Junior Triplets, defending state champions, were playing O'Fallon, the District 22 champions and Tri-City's top area rival.

Best friends Mark Winfield and Jeff Sossoucie went toe-to-toe for 10 innings for the Mickey Mantle Junior Legion state championship. Tri-City had to win to force a deciding game on Sunday or O'Fallon would continue on to Florissant, Mo., for the regional.

Sossoucie gave up two runs in the top of the tenth, but he started ed a three-run rally in the bottom of the inning as O'Fallon took the state title.

The two lefties matched zeroes for the first nine innings, which were dotted by missed opportunities and game-saving plays.

But in the tenth, it was the Junior Triplets

(27-14) who finally broke through.

Craig Harrison led off with a walk.

One out later, Brian Kohler singled.

After Winfield struck out for the fourth time, Jeff Hidenour was able to coax a walk to load the bases. Andy Roe sliced a bloop single down the right field line to chase home two runs.

"I was scared," said Sossoucie. "We were down. We started thinking about coming back tomorrow."

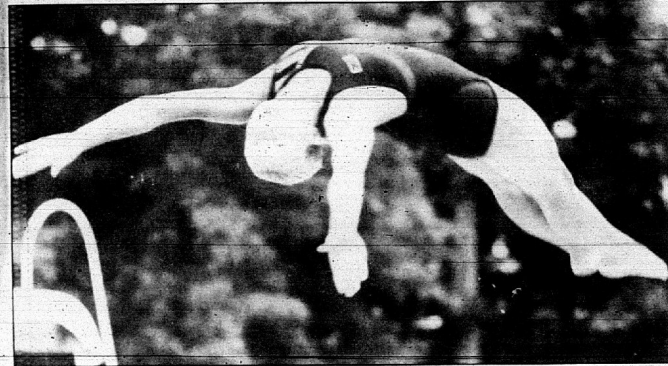

Tri-City manager Doug Winfield said, "Andy just went in and battled him. He drives in two runs and I don't know if many teams have been able to score even two against Sossoucie all year. Then all we had to do is get three outs."

The Juniors couldn't even get one out in the bottom of the tenth as all four batters reached and three of them scored.

Fittingly enough, Sossoucie — the tournament's Most Valuable Player with 33 strikeouts in two games — led off the inning with a single. Brian Northway followed with a walk. Rob Reidel

Paddlers divers come through in SWISA finals; triumph by 37

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Gayle McCormick has always said she never knows how her young divers will do until the day of the meet.

Saturday, they came up big. Paddlers rolled to an easy win in the seven-team SWISA diving championships at the Paddlers Pool on Johnson Road. Paddlers finished in all but one age division, and swept first and second in four of the 10 divisions. They had five firsts in all.

Paddlers totaled 91 points. Summersport of Godfrey was second with 54, and that was the team which figured to supply the toughest competition.

"I never expected it to be this easy," said McCormick. "It's a credit to the kids. The last two or three weeks, in particular, they were out here from 3:5 p.m. every day, then they would come back after supper and work out some more."

We had two judges from Clayton Shaw Park, and they were very impressed. They didn't know we had this many good divers in Illinois. They were circling a lot of names on the program; they were interested in.

One diver McCormick would have been counting on for points, Brooke Byrkman, was unable to perform this summer due to a broken leg suffered during soccer season. But she and Jenny Baker proved to be invaluable help to McCormick all season.

"We were able to give the divers a lot more individual attention this year," said McCormick. "Both Jenny and Brooke were a big help in the coaching department. They couldn't help but learn from a diver like Jenny Baker."

Winners from Paddlers in their respective age divisions were Michael Vivod (8 and under boys, 66.85), Ashley Slover (9-10 girls, 101.5), Tim Crider (11-12 boys, 126.70), Bari Baum (13-14 girls, 147.55) and Julie Goclan (15-18 girls, 201.20).

Taking seconds were Alyssa Chrusciel (8 and under girls, 60.00), Matt Dittman (8 and under boys, 56.75), Ali Krinski (9-10 girls, 90.35), Courtney Mathis (11-12 girls, 128.65), Blake Shepard (11-12 boys, 110.85), Steve Logan (13-14 boys, 140.45), Casey Krinski (15-18 girls, 200.65), and John Miller (15-18 boys, 187.05).

Divers from Summersport won in all the divisions. Paddlers with 70.05 points; Michael Wuellner won 9-10 boys with 89.15 points; Jeremy Rain won the 13-14 boys with 180.30 points; and Pat Kane won 15-18 boys with 302.75 points.

Taking thirds for Paddlers were Jenna Cassidy (8 and under girls, 59.3), Lisa Cuxar (11-12 girls, 121.1), and Shannon Sparks (13-14 girls, 135.5). Kevin Harris took fourth in 13-14 boys with 128.25 points, and Andy Ravanelli was sixth in 9-10 boys with 69.6 points.

Bari Baum's performance was really a pleasant surprise to me," said McCormick. "So was Jenna Cassidy. Lisa Cuxar did very well for her first year out."

"The 15-18 girls was kind of a surprise. Usually, it's been the boys way around with Casey Krinski finishing just ahead of Julie Goclan. But Casey was just having a little trouble with some of her reverse dives and Julie passed her by less than a point."

Running out the team scores were Montclair (25), Gaslight (23), Sunset Hills (21), Wedgewood (7) and Summerhaven (3).

Eagles, Buds split twinbill

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Waterloo Buds clinched their 11th straight Monroe Division title Sunday, earning a doubleheader split against Granite City in a match-up between the top two teams in the Mon-Clair League.

With the playoffs two weeks away, Waterloo (19-3 in league play, 39-7 overall) assured itself of finishing with the league's top record. Granite City (16-6) remained in second in both the Monroe Division and the overall standings. Both teams are now looking forward to the playoffs and a possible rematch next month.

The Eagles won the first game, 12-2, behind three hits each from Daren DePew and Tim Hogan.

The Buds cranked up their vaunted home run power for an 8-5 decision in the nightcap.

Waterloo manager Vern Moehrs, who favors winning division titles over league playoff championships, said the Buds are ready for a break.

"It was nice to see us get it over with," Moehrs said.

"Next weekend, we can sit back and have fun. That will be good for this ballclub."

"It definitely would have made it more interesting if we would have won both games," said Eagles player-manager Daren DePew. "We're out of the divi

For sale — Sales of T-shirts commemorating the Mickey Mantle Junior League State Tournament in Granite City last week went well. Joyce Eggeoff of Granite City makes a sale here to Highland player Brian Kinchel. The shirts were designed by Jim Shepard of Granite City.

Kinser top Outlaw at Tri-City

Steve Kinser made it 2-for-2 this year at Tri-City Speedway as he roared away from the field to win another World of Outlaws sprint car feature Saturday.

Kinser needed 13 laps to take the lead from Bobby Davis Jr. in the 30-lap feature. But after that he left the field in his wake, beating runner-up Mark Kinser by more than half a lap. Dave Blaney was third and heat winner Sammy Swindell was fourth.

The feature was recharged on lap eight for a two-car tumble involving brothers Ron and Robbie Standeridge of Springfield. Neither was hurt after Robbie's car flipped at the springfield, front straightaway while the wing of Ron's car hit the wall.

The other heats were won by Terry McCarl and Ron Standeridge. Fast qualifier Andy Hillenburg missed the track record, but turned the fastest winged sprint lap (17.634 seconds) at Tri-City in at least two years. Steve Kinser also won the dash to win another World of Outlaws sprint car feature Saturday.

In the track's own IMCA modified series, Dave Jones moved into second place in the points standings by winning his third feature. Charlie Smith was second to protect his top spot in the championship chase. Marvyn Prev, Joe Cooksey and Troy Walker rounded out the top five.

The feature Alan Wiles dropped from second to third in the point standings when he dropped out of the main event with a blown head gasket.

Rick Carter and Steve Shepard Jr. won heat races.

Tri-City Speedway resumes its weekly program of UMP late models, IMCA modifieds and pro stocks this Saturday. The World of Outlaws returns for a third and final visit Aug. 7.

Bowling tourney helps offset cost of Hall of Fame

A guaranteed first prize of $1,000 will be awarded in the Granite City Sports Hall of Fame Grand Slam Handicap Bowling Tournament.

The event will be held at Granite Bowl on several dates in August, with the top ten championship rolloff slated for Sept. 4. Bowlers rolling 300 games will be eligible for a rolloff, and the winner will receive prizes including $300 cash and six days/six nights lodging in a deluxe private condominium at Lake of the Ozarks Tan-Tar-A Resort.

Re-entries will be permitted. Sessions are scheduled for Friday nights (Aug. 7 and Aug. 14) and Saturday afternoons (Aug. 22 and Aug. 29). Each bowler will bowl four games and use the best three. One in five participants are guaranteed prize money.

Entry fees are $15 and proceeds will be used to retire the debt on the Hall of Fame building and for scholarships. Granite Bowl and Coca-Cola are sponsors of the tournament.

No PBA bowlers are eligible. Bowlers wishing to enter the tournament can mail their $15 entry fee, session selection, name, address and phone number to: Fame Bowling Tournament, 7201 N. N. Road, Granite City, Ill. 62040.

For more information, call 618-451-7991.

The Hall of Fame Building, located on the campus of Granite City High School (just south of Memorial Stadium) is open every Sunday from 1-3 p.m.

Lady Warrior tennis team meeting slated for Aug. 3

Prospective members of the Granite City High School girls tennis team this fall will have a meeting Aug. 3, according to new coach Laura Chappell.

The meeting will be at the high school tennis courts starting at 9:30 a.m. and lasting no later than 10:15. The meeting will take care of all required paperwork. All players must have a physical on file before the first practice, which is scheduled for Aug. 18.

Anyone who has had her physical should bring it to the Aug. 3 meeting. Anyone having her physical after Aug. 3 should bring it to the first practice. Chappell will also have copies of a Code and Conduct Book and commitment form Aug. 3, which should be filled out and returned at the first practice.

Because there are so few practices between Aug. 18 and the first match, all practices will be mandatory. Practice is at 8 a.m. each day. All players should bring a racquet and jump rope.

...gave the Buds a 2-2 lead. Moehrs seemed to be just as busy as the other players. Baxmeyer's key defensive play earlier in the game. Baxmeyer threw out Jay Williams attempting to steal on the second inning with the Buds ahead 2-0.

Williams followed with his three strikes on the bottom of the third. I think the turning point was when Williams called for a pitch out and threw out that runner. Moehrs said, "It kind of got our guys fired up. Before that, they were kind of in a fog. In fact and third base, Williams called that killed their momentum. Williams went on to make a number of starting pitcher Dale Schlicht, who also beat the Eagles earlier this season.

Williams' play on Schlicht in the bottom of the third inning. Williams' play on Schlicht in the bottom of the third inning. Williams' play on Schlicht in the bottom of the third inning.

runs on seven hits against Schlicht in the first two innings. DePew did the most damage, hitting a three-run homer in the first and an RBI single in the second.

Moehrs said Granite City's hitting success against Schlicht was surprising, but not unusual under the circumstances.

He had good stuff and they still hit him, but it's always been tough for us to beat Granite City," Moehrs said. "Granite

City has a good team right now. They'll have a big say in the playoffs."

Granite City's top hitters in the first game were DePew (2-3, four RBI), Tim Hogan (3-5, one RBI) and John Moad, who hit a solo home run.

Ironically, Moehrs said he expected the Buds to have a better chance of winning the first game. Darin Hendrickson limited the Buds to four hits.

"I thought we could beat them drickson, because he's never beaten us before," Moehrs said. "But he was on top today."

It is now clear that both Waterloo and Granite City have the pitching, hitting and defense to win the league playoff series next month.

The Eagles close the regular season this week with two night games against Valmeyer. Granite City and Valmeyer will play Thursday in Sauget and Friday in Granite City.

The Eagles have enjoyed a tremendous turnaround season after failing to make the playoffs last year.

"We're very happy with this season," DePew said. "There was a question at the beginning of the season whether we were going to exist. Right now, I couldn't ask for anything better."

After the two night games this week, the Eagles are idle next Sunday.

Farewell dinner held for Dr. Barr

Dr. Dan Barr was honored at a farewell dinner held at Ralph and Charlie's Restaurant, Ponton Beach.

On June 30, approximately 30 friends and well-wishers gathered to honor Dr. Barr for his service to the community.

Local firefighters presented Dr. Barr with a framed certificate of appreciation for enthusiastic support as an emergency physician.

Guests included staff members from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, the Granite City Police Department and the Granite City Fire Department.

He was also honored with a midnight pot luck dinner and cake by the staff of SEMC and a "last day" pot luck dinner held in the emergency department July 12.

Ryan offers summer travel tips

(From the office of Illinois Secretary of State George Ryan)

Vacations are special times for families, but traveling with young children during the hot summer months can be challenging. To make your long distance driving safer and more pleasurable for everyone, follow these trip tips.

1. Make sure that children under age 4 are properly secured in a child safety seat. You can borrow a safety seat at no charge from any Driver Services Facility through my office's Operation Precious Cargo program. Children age 3 and older should be secured with both lap and shoulder safety belts.

2. During your trip, check the safety seat for hot buckles and metal frames before placing your child in it.

Children make up own best stories

By Jane Cosby
Correspondent

Children and stories go together like peanut butter and jelly. Using this natural affinity to help your child develop his writing skills is easy and doesn't require any special skill.

Children love to tell stories even before they can read or write. With your help, your child can become an author before he learns to read.

If your child does not read or just does not read very well, let him dictate a story to you. You can write down exactly what he says and then read it back to him.

Some children can read well enough but have trouble with spelling when they try to write something. Tell your child to write his "first words" using his own invented spelling for any words he does not know how to spell.

At the beginning of any writing project it is more important to get your ideas down than to get all the words spelled correctly.

Later, with your help or the help of a dictionary, he can "clean up" the manuscript and see that all the words are spelled correctly. If he has access to a computer, there may be a spell checking program to help with this.

Writing is an important skill for kids to begin developing. It is a skill that requires more individual attention than most schools and teachers are able to give to their students. So it is important that parents try to encourage writing at home.

In Your Own Words: A Beginner's Guide To Writing by Sylvia Cassidy (Thomas Y. Crowell, $13.95) is an excellent introduction to writing for young students. Cassidy gives excellent advice on getting started, what to write about and how to write different kinds of pieces from prose to poetry.

Look for her book in the library if your child needs help in this area. Here are some of her suggestions for getting kids writing.

Cassidy suggests that daydreaming is not wasting time. Those daydreams are stories waiting to be told. Cassidy says children can use their daydreams as the starting point for a story.

Ancient people devised myths to explain things they didn't understand, like how the sun traveled across the sky or why spiders spin webs. Children can choose one of the natural occurrences of our world and make up their own myth to explain it. From Hercules to Superman, heroes have been the mainstay of fiction. Children can create a hero by giving their character an extraordinary ability and then having him perform some heroic deed or task.

Science fiction is the perfect vehicle for high-tech kids who like to fantasize. Take an ordinary machine, like a television, telephone or vacuum cleaner and give it fantastic properties in the world of the future. That can be the beginning of your story.

Many fiction writers simply retell an old, familiar story in a new way or with an unusual twist. Have your child retell a favorite fairy tale, providing a surprise ending, the villain's point of view or a modern setting.

Ghosts hold a universal fascination for children. Have your child write his own ghost story. Let him take his fears, put them on paper and then write his own successful escape from the situation.

One of the most important elements of becoming a good writer is practice. Parents can help children get that practice by encouraging and helping them in their writing efforts at home.

Brinkhoff earns scholarship

Patricia E. Brinkhoff of Granite City has been awarded a President's Scholarship and Foundation Leadership Award to attend Southeast Missouri State University in Cape Girardeau during the 1992-93 academic year.

The President's Scholarship is awarded to high school seniors who rank at least in the upper 20 percent of their high school class and score 24 on the ACT. Those of their class and score 23 on the ACT, or those who are class valedictorian or salutatorian.

The scholarship is worth $1,000 per academic year and is renewable for four years. At a 3.5 grade point average is maintained.

Brinkhoff is the daughter of W. R. and Sue Brinkhoff of Granite City and a 1992 graduate of Granite City Senior High School. She plans to major in elementary education at Southeast.

Cherries Jubilee

2 cans (16 oz. each) dark sweet cherries
1/4 cup sugar
2 tsp. cornstarch
1 tbsp. grated orange peel
1/2 cup brandy or cognac, if desired
1 pound cake, cut in 16 slices

Drain cherries, reserving syrup. Combine cherry syrup with sugar and cornstarch in skillet. Cook and stir until smooth and clear. Add cherries and orange peel. Heat thoroughly. Gently heat brandy. Pour over heated cherries. Flame, if desired. Stir gently. Ladle over pound cake.

Makes 8 servings.
Make-ahead tip: Prepare cherry sauce, but do not add brandy. Heat sauce on barbecue grill after main course is cooked. Carefully heat brandy on grill. Pour over cherry sauce and flame vapor, if desired.

Summer picnic gives grill a real workout

By Janice Denham
Staff writer

Whether the sizzle is the temperature of the grill, this is the time to make it entertaining. Whether the event is held in the back yard or in a park, the menu should be uncomplicated, the party should be casual and the food should be smashing.

A grill comes in handy to prepare a roast or steak for immediate serving, or the meat can be sliced thinly and used as part of a salad for carrying to the picnic.

Linda Speranza of Phoenix, Ariz., took the latter course to use grilled flank steak in Steak Salad Supreme, grand prize winner in the 1992 Handi-Wrap Hand-Me-Down picnic recipe contest, which invited traditional family picnic recipes.

When cooking over charcoal for friends, use enough briquettes so they extend 2 inches beyond the surface area covered by food. When coals reach medium temperature, you can hold your hand 4 inches above coals for 4 seconds. Tenting the roast with aluminum foil 10 minutes after it is done allows easier carving. Use the time to toss a salad and finish grilling vegetables.

Virginia Alton, University City, took first place in the appetizer category of the contest. Her recipe for Artichoke Appetizer Pie won the appetizer division. It can be baked at home for toting to a picnic, for serving chilled or at room temperature.

Side dishes are handy from the grill. Onions, cut in wedges 1/2-inch thick, should be brushed lightly with oil. Over medium coals, turning occasionally, grill them 15 to 20 minutes until tender. Bell peppers, cut in half lengthwise with their seeds removed, also should be brushed lightly with oil. They take 12 to 15 minutes to grill over medium coals, with occasional turning, until tender.

Polenta is easy to make in a microwave. After refrigerating it as long as overnight, it can be carried to a picnic and grilled until warm. Fresh fruit is a convenient way to end a meal. Dip it in chocolate ice cream sauce for an instant treat. For a more elegant finale, try Cherries Jubilee, which can be flamed, if desired.

Other picnic recipes and ideas are available in a free booklet. Send name and address to: Picnics With Pizzaz, From Handi-Wrap, Department 4100PK, P.O. Box 78980, New Augusta, Ind. 46278.

Grilled Beef Roast

1 sirloin tip beef roast (about 2 lb.)
2 tbsp. minced onion
1 lb. packed light brown sugar
2 tsp. pepper sauce
1 tsp. chili powder
1/4 tsp. cumin
pinch cinnamon
salt to taste

Combine onion, brown sugar, pepper sauce, chili powder, cumin and cinnamon. Spread evenly over surface of beef. Over medium coals, grill 30 to 35 minutes over direct flame. 25 to 30 minutes in covered cooker, turning frequently.

Remove roast from grill. Allow to stand, tented with foil, 10 minutes for easier carving. Carve across grain in thin slices. Season to taste with salt. Makes 8 servings.

Easy Polenta

2 1/2 cups water
1/4 cup yellow cornmeal
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 cup (2 oz.) shredded fontina or mozzarella cheese
2 tsp. grated parmesan cheese

Combine water, cornmeal and salt in 1 quart microwave-safe dish. Microwave-covered, on high power 10 to 12 minutes, stirring once. Stir in cheese. Let stand, covered, 2 minutes. Spread mixture in lightly oiled 9-inch round pan. Cool slightly. Refrigerate, covered, at least 1 hour or overnight, if desired, until firm.

Cut in 6 to 8 wedges. Grill 12 to 15 minutes over medium coals, turning once. Sprinkle parmesan cheese over warm polenta. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Steak Salad Supreme

1/4 cup Italian salad dressing
1/2 tsp. capers, drained
2 tsp. Dijon mustard
1 lb. charcoal-grilled flank steak, thinly sliced (see note)
2 ripe tomatoes, chopped
1/2 small red onion, finely sliced
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped

Combine salad dressing, capers and mustard, stirring to blend. Add steak. Toss with dressing until well coated. Add tomato, onion and egg. Gently mix. Chill, covered with plastic wrap, at least two hours or overnight.

Note: Extra steak from a barbecue can be used the next day. Any cut of steak, grilled or broiled, or sliced deli roast beef can be used.

Artichoke Appetizer Pie

butter or margarine
unseasoned dry bread crumbs
2 containers (15 oz. each) ricotta cheese, drained
1/2 cup grated parmesan cheese
4 eggs
1 tsp. leaf thyme, crumbled
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. cayenne pepper
1 can (15 oz.) artichoke hearts, drained, cut in pieces
1 lb. bacon, cooked until crisp, crumbled

Preheat oven to 375°. Butter 8 1/2-inch springform pan. Coat with bread crumbs. Combine ricotta and parmesan cheese, eggs, thyme, nutmeg, salt, black and cayenne pepper in large bowl. Stir in artichokes and bacon. Pour into pan. Bake in preheated oven 45 to 60 minutes, until top is set and light brown. Cool in pan or on wire rack. Cover with plastic wrap. Store in refrigerator.

Place on serving plate, removing side of pan. Slice in wedges. Serve chilled or at room temperature. Makes 8 servings.

Don't lose cool when vacationing

By Mary Schroepfer
My three-year-old would eat every meal outdoors if I let her. The whole family seems to get hungrier when we spend time outside, whether it is for a few hours or several days.

When I no longer have the convenience of a kitchen, food safety is ultimate in importance. Even on a short trip, cooler space may be limited. It is also necessary to keep fresh foods—such as meat, poultry, milk and eggs—icy cold.

When the temperature reaches 80°, the ice chest needs special attention. When traveling, we keep the ice chest in the passenger section because it is much cooler than the trunk. To make foods in the cooler last longer, we keep the cooler in the shade and wrap it in a sleeping blanket while we are away hiking or boating. Sometimes youngsters need reminders to close the lid.

Use foods that need ice early in the trip. Canned fruits, rice, pasta, lentils, peanut butter and cereal are safe choices for later meals.

Camping trips are more relaxing when I buy most of the foods a day or two ahead. This saves just-minute scurrying and I am less likely to forget something.

Reliable tap water can be a problem in parks or campsites. Bottled water can be used for drinking or mixing with foods.

Another alternative is to boil water 15 minutes, then let the water stand 30 minutes so any sediment settles to the bottom. The clean water then can be dipped out and strained through a clean cloth before using.

Another alternative is to use commercial water purification tablets.

Cold foods must be kept cold and hot foods should be eaten hot. Never let perishable food set out. I insist that any perishable food left out more than two hours be discarded. This means the total time from taking raw food from the refrigerator until cooked food is placed on ice must not exceed two hours. Food left out longer can cause illness and ruin an otherwise perfect outing. Food poisoning runs fun.

Perishable meats—such as chicken legs, thighs, pork steaks, lean hamburgers, or salmon steaks—are best for short day trips. Keep raw meat and poultry icy away from foods that do not need further cooking. Cook raw meats, fish and poultry until well done and serve them hot. Generally, red meat is done when all the pink is gone, poultry when there is no red in the joints and fish when it is flaky.

When cooking after dark, check food with a bright light. Everything looks done in the dark. Always use a clean pan or platter for the cooked food because salmonella from raw food juices can spoil cooked foods.

For safety, I make sure adults and children alike have an opportunity to wash up before meals. Prepared wet towels are handy for this.

For a quick meal, keep wrap sandwiches in the cooler until serving time. Presliced vegetables and fruit keep on ice in resealable storage bags to save space. For convenience, carry cleaned and tossed salad greens and vegetables in large plastic food bags in the cooler along with plastic jars of salad dressing.

If the cooler gets full, fruit can be carried in the picnic basket, then moved into the cooler as there is space. It is refreshing, but not necessary, to eat oranges, bananas and apples well chilled.

I try not to over-pack. A main dish, a bread and a side dish like vegetarian baked beans or three-bean salad, plus a few raw vegetables or some fruit is plenty. For dessert, low-fat banana bread or gingerbread travels well.

Although traditional, some picnic accompaniments—like potato salad or chips and dip, are in fat.

Chicken Italian in foil

1. 2 meaty chicken pieces, such as leg section with thigh or a breast.
2. 1 medium potato, peeled, sliced.
3. 1 medium zucchini, sliced.
4. 3 large pitted black olives.
5. 2 tsp. ketchup.
6. 1/2 tsp. leaf oregano.
7. 1/2 tsp. margarine.

Brush oil on chicken. Place sliced potato on 18 by 12 inch piece of heavy duty aluminum foil. Top with zucchini, olives, ketchup, oregano and margarine. Wrap securely in foil. Grill about 1 hour, turning every 20 minutes.

Serve with parmesan cheese, if desired.

INGROWN NAILS?
If you are plagued by the presence of ingrown nails, you know they can be quite painful. The problem also represents an impending infection with related complications. Relief may be obtained by a brief in-office procedure. In most cases work is resumed without interruption. Feel free to call the specialists of The Foot Health Centers for details.

The Foot Health Centers
Staffed with physicians and surgeons specializing in the medical and surgical treatment of diseases and deformities of the foot.

Merrell, a state senator for 22 years from the 10th District, is chairman of the Local Government and Economic Development Committee.

He also serves as a member of the Appropriations, Conservation, Education, Governmental Affairs, Rules and Resolutions committees and the Joint Commission on Governmental Affairs.

Merrell is a past recipient of the Pioneer Award, which is presented annually to outstanding Missourians who are considered "Pioneers" in the education field.

Mother-daughter combo perform at club meeting

The New Life Club, which meets monthly at St. Matthew United Methodist Church in Belleville, met June 18. Two hundred people attended.

Prior to the business meeting, the group enjoyed musical entertainment provided by Helen Jackson from Madisonville, Ky., accompanied at the piano by her daughter, Mary Parchment of Granite City.

Jackson was given a standing ovation by the enthusiastic audience. She has sung in many churches and organizations.

Black took his time recording 'Hard Way'

By Alan Sculley
Correspondent

Flash back to the country music scene in 1990. The industry is abuzz over a new singer with a lively, rootsy style whose two albums have each topped 2 million in sales. People often refer to him merely by his first name.

That name does not begin with a "G." Although Garth Brooks was supposed to begin his domination of the charts, the leader of the country's new generation at the time was Clint— as in Clint Black.

Then Brooks released his third album, "Ropin' the Wind," and watched his record sales go through the roof. Black, meanwhile, took another road, spending 1991 out of the country spotlight.

Black says it was time well spent.

"I really wanted to come off the road, take a little time off and then get started on the album, and really take my time with it," Black said. "I wasn't able to do that on the second album, and I just demanded it of myself on the third one... forget all of the business ambitions and think about the record first."

But now Black's back, with a new album, "The Hard Way." And he has high hopes it will produce Garth-like sales.

"I'm very proud of this album, and I have to say this is my best album yet," he said. "And it was well worth the time to me creatively. I'll be able to listen to this album a year from now."

"I didn't feel that much growth in the second album," he said. "The first album [1989's "Killing Time"] was the first time I'd ever been in the studio. The second album [1990's "Put Yourself in My Shoes"] was the second time. I kind of expected something from myself the second time. And I really didn't feel much growth. On some songs, yes, but not like I had hoped."

Black said his busy schedule had a major effect on "Put Yourself in My Shoes."

"The irony of success, less time for the things that are most important— absolutely a fact of life," he said. "I was recording that album while I was in the middle of a bunch of tour dates."

"But I don't want to knock it," he said. "I've had some nice compliments on the album and I don't want to demean those. I just, by my expectations, and I was exposed to it, overexposed and then saturated with it, and I hear things that most people wouldn't consider a mistake probably."

Like Black's other albums, "The Hard Way" leans heavily on original songs written by Black, and Hayden Nicholas, a songwriter/guitarist he met in his hometown of Houston in 1987. Black, 30, had been performing professionally since he was 19, but after teaming up with Nicholas things happened fast. First came a management deal, and before two years had passed, a record deal with RCA.

Clint Black headlines an Aug. 1 show at Riverport Amphitheatre.

Grey chronicles Cohen's life in 'George M!'

By Jean Abernathy
Correspondent

Parallels can be drawn between Joel Grey and George Michael Cohen — the Broadway legend Grey portrays in The Munny's production of "George M!" Aug. 3 through 9. Cohen began his career at age 10 in his parents' act "Irish Songs and Dances."

Grey was 9 years old when he made his debut at the Cleveland Playhouse. After moving to Los Angeles with his family, Grey appeared in his father's — the late comedian Mickey Katz — stage revue.

Both Cohen and Grey went on to become Broadway legends. "George M!" chronicles Cohen's life from his parents' vaudeville act to his first attempt at Broadway, a failure, to his second effort, "Little Johnnie Jones," a hit, to his comeback in 1937 in "I'd Rather Be Right."

Along the way, Cohen falls in love and marries Ethel Levy, is divorced and then marries Agnes Nolan. Known as "the man who owned Broadway," Cohen's spirit remains undaunted through life's ups and downs.

The musical features a number of classic Cohen tunes which surely will stir memories. "You're a Grand Old Flag," "Harrigan," "Over There," and "Give My Regards to Broadway" are just a few of the popular songs in "George M!"

Grey is a natural for the part, having portrayed Cohen in the original production on Broadway in 1969.

The performance won him a Tony nomination and the Variety Critics Award as Best Actor in a Musical. He reprised the role in an NBC television special, "George M!"

Grey is known to many as the master of ceremonies in "Cabaret," a role he played on Broadway which earned him a Tony Award. He went on to star in the film version in 1972 for which he received the Oscar for Best Supporting Actor.

To the younger generation, Grey may be known as Jennifer's dad. His daughter, Jennifer Grey, has received notoriety for her work in several films, including "Dirty Dancing."

Wednesday, Aug. 5, will be Suburban Journals Night at the Munny's performance of "George M!" The first 200 people through the ticket gates that evening will receive a special gift from the Journals.
